FOREWORD

The 5th European Interdisciplinary Forum (EIF 2017) “Drivers for Progress in the Global Society” hosted several events under its umbrella: the primal international scientific conference with a general theme “Innovations, Smart Growth and Sustainability” (held at Klaipėda University, Klaipėda, on November 23-24, 2017) and the international scientific interdisciplinary conference “Discourse, Technology and Translation” and Featured Workshop on Translation supported by The TextLink COST Action IS1312 (held at Mykolas Romeris University, Vilnius, on October 12-13, 2017).

EIF 2017 was aimed to bring together researchers, academics and practitioners to encourage their dialogue and promote innovative interdisciplinary research merging Humanities, Social Sciences and New Technologies.

Proceedings of EIF 2017 present practical and theoretical studies related to discourse in Humanities (Linguistics, Literature, Applied Philology, Culture Studies, etc.) and Social Sciences (Law, Politics, Educational Sciences, etc.) as well as to various issues of Economics, Management and Public Administration such as entrepreneurship, competitiveness, sustainability, innovations and others that help to solve contemporary challenges of business and society.
